The New York Me ical Journal recently published an interesting item on mineral waters. It seems that the lay public is likely to confound table waters with medicinal waters containing active chemical substances, which cannot safely be included as -part-of-the-ordinary-daily diet. The article says-that greaterattention is being directed to dietetic waters more generally called table waters, which, if pure, are of great value as hygicalic agents, and it recommends waters like Apollinaris, which is regarded as the leading diotetic table water.

"APOLLINARIS,"

CHINA, JAPAN, STRAITS, &c., &c., 1893, With which is incorporated THE CHINA DIRECTORY.

This is the THIRTY-FIRST ANNUAL LOBUE, and will be found, as usual, to show an advance on preceding years both in fullness and accuracy of information.

The DIRECTORY covers the whole of the ports and cities of the Far East, from Penang to Vladivostock in which Europeans reside. Not only is the Directory as full and complete in each case as it can be made, but each Colony, Port, or Settlement is prefaced by a DESCRII TION, carefully revised each year, some of which will serve as accurate Guides for the Tourist, giving every detail in connection with the places, their History, Topography, &c., &c.

The Information afforded in these Descriptions alone would suffice to fill an ordinary volume, consisting of over Eighty highly interesting articles, packed with facts concisely set out, and containing statistics of the TRADE of each Country and Port.

The work contains Directories and Descrip-

Governor and the Portuguese and Spanish Conhas contributed, and he mentions coast trade duties as having fallen by Tis, 62,588, whereas according to the table there appears to have been an increase of Tls. 83,184. It is not so easy to check the figures given in the report with reference to the import duties, as Mr. Korson has separated the duty on opium from the remainder, which is not done in the table. Taking the figures in of the Great White Horse Inn at Ipswich, one the report as correct, however, import Our New Factory has been recently refitted duties fell by Tls. 237,970 which Mr. with automatic Steam Machinery of the latest Kopsch takes as indicating a lessened and most opproved kind, and we are well able to volume of trade, notwithstanding that the compete in quality with the best English makers. total value has increased, the increase in value being put down to the supposed The purest ingredients only are used, and the enhance I prices due to the appreciation of utmost care and cleanliness are exercised in the gold. But we find that while opiumcotton goods, woollen goods, miscellaneout piece goods, and metals have together fallen in value from Tls. 93,674.264 to Tls. 92,256,547, this falling off has been more than made up by the increase in sundries, the value of which has risen from Tls. 40,329,599 to Tls. 42,844,651. and as most of the principal sundries showwhenever practicable, are despatched by first ing an increase come from silver countries the exchange theory seems to fall to the board boat, also taking the brilge and all floatground and we are forced to the conclusion that notwithstanding the falling off in re- hid on her bonn ends notil the end of the gale. venue there has actually been an increase in the volume of trade. The decrease in revenue, on this theory, is to be accounted for by the fact of the increase in the trade 6th British ship showing NHDB, lat. 28 S., having run in channels which happen to

The bearing of the figures on the trade of Hougkong can hardly be correctly appreciated until the reports and returns from Kowloon and Canton are published. but we find from the totals given in the returns attached to Mr. Korscu's report that the trade of both places shows a substantial increase as measured by values, that of Canton having risen from Tls. 38.482,592 in 1890 and Tl₂. 45,957,092 in 1891 to Tls. 46.348.707 in 1892; while Kowloon has risen from Tls. 35,548,258 in 1891 to Tls. 35,741,932 in 1892, these figures, however, being considerably below those for 1890. But seeing that changes in the lekin duties cause trade to tend sometowards the other a more correct comparison will be arrived at if we take the trade of gives us the following figures:—in 1890. Tis. 77,074,724; 1891, Tls. 81,505,350; 1892, Tls. 82,090,639. These totals, it must be confessed, show a very satisfactory increase land go to support the view we have all along expressed, namely, that the trade of the Colony has not fullen off, notwithstanding the had times which have been complained of. The European merchants have suffered, and suffered severely, by the fluctuations in exchange, which have swallowed up all possible profits and in some cases left a balance on the wrong side, but the Chinese have been doing very well indeed, 1892 having been one of the best years they have experienced for a long China was Tis. 110,518,350, which is nearly five millions more than in the previous year, when the amount was larger than it had ever been before. With the figures of the Chinese Customs before us it is as impossible to believe that there is any decadence in the trade of the Colony as it would be to believe that arising thermometer was coincident with a falling temperature.
